FAMILIAR FISH

THEIR HABITS AND CAPTURE. A Practical Book on Fresh-Water Game Fish. By EUGENE McCARTHY. With an introduction by Dr. David Starr Jordan, President of Leland Stanford Junior University, and numerous illustrations. Uniform with "Familiar Trees," "Familiar Flowers," and other books by F. Schuyler Mathews. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This useful and informing book by one of the most experienced American anglers meets the demand for a practical handbook which shall describe the habits and environment of the fresh-water game fish commonly met with in this country, and explain in a simple and easily comprehensible way the methods of their capture. As an expert fisherman, Mr. McCarthy is able to speak with authority regarding salmon, trout, ouananniche, bass, pike and pickerel, muskallunge, perch, carp, and other fish which are the object of the angler's pursuit. His clear and practical counsel as to rods and tackle and their use, and the various details of camp life, render his book a most helpful companion for all sportsmen and campers. Dr. David Starr Jordan has read the manuscript, and has lent the weight of his approval by writing an introduction. The book is profusely illustrated with pictures and useful diagrams.

NEW EDITION

THE RED BADGE OF COURAGE

An Episode of the American Civil War. By STEPHEN CRANE, author of "The Little Regiment," "The Third Violet," "Maggie," etc. New edition, with portrait and biographical sketch. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

This new edition of "The Red Badge" is issued in response to the general demand for an edition of this famous book which should present a memorial of the lamented author in connection with the example of his work which has made the deepest impression. It would be superfluous to multiply citations from the American, English and French eulogies of a book which was characterized by the Boston Transcript as "standing absolutely alone," and by the St. James's Gazette as "a revelation."

BROWN OF LOST RIVER

A Story of the West. By MARY E. STICKNEY. No. 288, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

This fresh and breezy novel of ranch life, by a new writer of remarkable talent, will delight the most jaded novel reader. The story is written without any straining for effect or any lapse into melodrama. It is a tale of love, charmingly developed, and accompanied by a wealth of stirring incidents. The picturesque ranch life is sketched with singular vividness, and the interest of the plot mounts steadily to the end.

THE LAST SENTENCE

A Novel. By MAXWELL GRAY, author of "The Silence of Dean Maitland." No. 287, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

REVISED EDITIONS

APPLETONS' DICTIONARY OF NEW YORK AND VICINITY

An alphabetically arranged index to all places, societies, institutions, amusements, etc. With maps of New York and vicinity, and illustrations. Cloth, 60 cents; paper, 30 cents.

APPLETONS' CANADIAN GUIDE-BOOK

By CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS. A Guide for Tourists and Sportsmen from Newfoundland to the Pacific. 12mo, flexible cloth, $1.00.

IN CIRCLING CAMPS

A Romance of the American Civil War. By J. A. ALTSEHLER, author of "A Herald of the West," "A Soldier of Manhattan," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. "Mr. Altsheler has an enviable reputation. His method is that of Fenimore Cooper. He tells a good, strong, human story for its own sake and not for the sake of showing off his talent as a literary story teller. He gives us some great battle pieces, notably Shiloh and Gettysburg. His admiration of the nobler qualities of 'old friends turned foes' is so hearty and so sincerely dramatic that we love and pity the terrible valor of both."—RICHARD HENRY STODDARD in the N. Y. Mail and Express.

"An immediate success."

THE FARRINGDONS

A Novel. By ELLEN THORNEYCROFT FOWLER, author of "Concerning Isabel Carnaby," "A Double Thread," etc. Second edition. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

D. APPLETON & COMPANY, Publishers, New York.

NOTE: Not having any special publications to announce this month, we occupy our usual space with a matter that should prove interesting reading to Publishers and Booksellers alike.

The Story of a Literary Gold Brick

MESSRS. TILLOTSON & SON, London and New York;
"LOVE AND MR. LEWISHAM," by H. G. WELLS; and AINSLEE'S MAGAZINE.

LAST Fall Ainslee's Magazine was on the lookout for a high-class story to publish as a serial during 1900. Messrs. Tillotson & Son offered to us as a great opportunity the serial rights of a new story by the well-known English author, H. G. Wells, author of "Time Machine" and "War of the Worlds," for $2,000. We ordered the story, and in due time the manuscript of "Love and Mr. Lewisham" came to hand. To say that we were disappointed in the story is a mild expression. It was a flaccid love story of the sweet girl graduate order, not a bit in the line of work that made the author's reputation, and utterly unworthy of that reputation. We decided it would never do to publish such rubbish in Ainslee's, but Messrs. Tillotson, nevertheless, would not hear of letting us off. So we in turn offered the serial rights of "Love and Mr. Lewisham" through a well-known agent to various publishers, though we made no representations about the story. Then followed a game of battledore and shuttlecock, with the manuscript in a constant state of transit from one publishing house to another. Everybody welcomed the manuscript eagerly, but it invariably came back in a few days, "turned down." All the leading magazines and principal newspaper syndicates were tried, no avenue was overlooked; nevertheless, courteous rejection and heat turned to cold was the end of it all. How could it be otherwise? We paid Messrs. Tillotson & Son's attorney $1,750 to settle the matter.

There is a two-fold lesson to publishers in this experience. First, never buy the work of an English author "sight unseen." Second, note that the average English author is working the American market for a great deal more than he is worth.

No doubt this story, "Love and Mr. Lewisham," will appear in book form. We shall be curious to hear what the critics say of it, and what the trade do with it.

THE BEST BOOKS ON CHINA

MESSRS. HARPER & BROTHERS beg leave to bring to the attention of the trade their recent books on China. Since the beginning of the present disturbances there has been a steadily increasing demand for all works on the subject, and with the addition of their new and valuable book, by Mr. Colquhoun, Messrs. Harper & Brothers are confident that their list is now the most complete on the market. Mr. Colquhoun's new book, published this week, is entitled

Overland to China

While a portion of the work is devoted to the author's travels through Asia, the greater part is given up to China, and the book has a distinctly timely value. The New York Times speaks of it as "the clearest, most comprehensive, and truly valuable exposition of the far Eastern question that we have seen." It is illustrated and provided with the latest maps. Mr. Colquhoun's earlier work is an exceedingly important study of China of to-day viewed from various standpoints. The author has acted as special correspondent for the London Times in the far East and is thoroughly conversant with his subject. This volume has in it three large folding maps. The work which has the most direct bearing on the present revolution is Lord Charles Beresford's

China in Transformation

The Break-Up of China

Visiting China in an official capacity the author had unusual opportunities for observation of the people and conditions. His work is written in a clear and forceful way and is thoroughly up-to-date. It contains portraits and maps

HARPER & BROTHERS, New York

READY IMMEDIATELY.

IN SOUTH AFRICA WITH BULLER.

By Captain GEORGE CLARKE MUSGRAVE,
Author of "Under Three Flags in Cuba," Etc.

With 20 Full-page Plates by MELTON PRIOR ("Illustrated London News"), RENE BULL, ("Black and White"), and from Photographs by the Author and Others.

Crown 8vo, Decorated Cloth, $2.00.

THIS book gives a full narrative of the War in Cape Colony, and is of special importance, as the author has just come from the scene of battle. He gives a plain account of the war and its causes, based on personal observation and investigation, and, thanks to prominent Afrikaners who were anxious that he should present their side to the United States, their views and aspirations were freely brought to his notice. He thinks that "a careful review of the facts will lead true Americans, as lovers of universal liberty, to realize that the only hope for South Africa lies in its federation under the almost republican constitution guaranteed by the British flag."

Captain Musgrave states with clearness the reasons for the war, and describes at length the tyrannical treatment of the natives and Uitlanders by the Boers. The lonely death of the brave General Symons is described most vividly, as are the long, weary marches of the troops in an unknown land, and a full account of the operations for the relief of Ladysmith is given.

UNDER THREE FLAGS IN CUBA.

By Captain GEORGE CLARKE MUSGRAVE.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, Extra, Illustrated, $2.00.

"... There is evidence of candor and fearlessness on the face of all he says. It is a book that should go far to throw a clear and truthful light on history."—Chicago Chronicle.

"One of the most interesting and comprehensive books on Cuba yet published."—Boston Globe.

NOTES IN SEASON.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish immediately "In South Africa with Buller," by Captain George Clarke Musgrave, author of "Under Three Flags in Cuba." Captain Musgrave's new book gives a full narrative of the war in Cape Colony, and has special importance as the author has just returned from the scene of battle.

McCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. have just ready Professor J. W. Jenkins's work on "The Trust Problem," already described by us. They will publish shortly "The Fugitives," a love story of the South African war, by Morley Roberts. They have in preparation, for early publication, a new novel by Gertrude Hall, entitled "April's Sowing."

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready a volume of reminiscences by Dr. John Janvier Black, entitled "Forty Years in the Medical Profession, 1858-1898"; also, a new edition of "Flowers in the Pave," a volume of charmingly written sketches, by Charles M. Skinner, with illustrations by Elizabeth Shippen Green and Edward Stratton Holloway.

HURST & Co.'s trade and order list for 1900 is just ready, and shows many additions to his two score and more libraries and series and juveniles. Their list embraces a great number of good-selling titles by well-known writers of romance, fiction, and poetry. They have also added a line of paper-covered books which should commend itself to the trade at this season of the year.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just ready a story of ranch life in the West, entitled "Brown of Lost River," by Mrs. Mary E. Stickney (the wife of a Colorado banker), who may be remembered as the author of some short stories which she contributed to the periodicals. They will publish in August "The Flower of the Flock," a new novel by W. E. Norris, author of "Matrimony," etc.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready a timely volume entitled "Overland to China," by Archibald R. Colquhoun, a companion volume to the author's work on "China in Transformation." The new volume is fully illustrated with reproductions from photographs, and also contains a number of maps and diagrams. They have also just ready three novels: "Bequeathed," by Beatrice Whitby; "The Meloon Farm," a posthumous work, by Maria Louise Pool; and "Lady Blanche's Salon," by Lloyd Bryce.

GEORGE ROUTLEDGE & SONS have given particular attention to their juveniles for the coming season and the result is that they have one of the most attractive lines that have ever been shown in this country. This is particularly true of the twelve volumes in the series of colored classics, now called the Young People's Popular Library, all in new and very handsome covers, and of the twelve books in the well-known One Syllable Histories. These have nearly all been carefully revised and brought up to date and each volume has now, for the first time, a distinct cover with its own elaborate decoration.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation an edition de luxe of the works of Walter Pater. The edition will be in eight volumes and will be limited to 775 copies, 250 of which will be reserved for America, 25 for presentation, and the remaining 500 offered for subscription in England. The first volume, "Studies in the History of the Renaissance," will be issued in September, and is to be followed by monthly volumes, the last of which, "Miscellaneous Studies," will be issued in April, 1901. "Marius the Epicurean," Pater's masterpiece, will be issued in two volumes, published, respectively, in October and November, followed in December by "Imaginary Portraits and Gaston de Latour." "Appreciations" will be issued in January, 1901, while "Plato and Platonism" and "Greek Studies" form the subjects of the issues of the next two months.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The hero is a young Kentuckian of small schooling, who has grown up in the faith that the Bible is literally true. A college is organized in Lexington for the making of ministers, in which the young man enters as student. The story shows his gradual awakening to the many different beliefs in the world, and the final undermining of his own faith. He leaves college after two years and returns to his poor home. A woman comes into his life, far above him in station, who knows little of theology, but who reconciles him to life and the truest religion.

Oppenheim, E. Phillips. A millionaire of yesterday. Phil., Lippincott, 1900. 3-315 p. D. (Lippincott's select novels, no. 230.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c.

The scene opens in South Africa. Two fellow travellers join interests in a mining claim which they expect will yield a fabulous fortune when their rights are recognized by the English government. Their hopes are realized after the supposed death of the elder man, and according to contract the entire fortune falls to the younger one, who later figures in England as a millionaire, where he meets his former partner's daughter, and on her account he is known as "A millionaire of yesterday;" in this role he is seen at his best.

"The necessity for this book" says the preface, "lies in the fact that there is no treatise on the Spanish verb in existence and no satisfactory work on Spanish pronunciation. The method herein taught is similar to the system in vogue at the United States Military Academy, whereby a thorough knowledge of the essentials of Spanish is taught within a period of three months. Constant repetition of the verb is considered the only correct way of teaching Spanish. Contains explanations of moods and tenses and remarks about the formation of the verbs, which were used by Prof. Wood in his West Point classes."

Whitby, Beatrice. Bequeathed: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1900. c. 3+334 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 7, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach his office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

THE STATUS OF THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER.*

THE term "ambassador of commerce," as applied to the commercial traveller, is no mere euphemism when it is considered that he is always absent on important business, and that his occupation is far away from the seat of government. He must be truly a representative of the opinions and interests of those at home—just as his sample trunks, if properly prepared and packed, are representative, in miniature, of part of the home establishment—and he must always remember that his success and that of his firm are identical. He may have his general instructions as to where he is to go and on whom he is to call; but he must not be burdened with too much "red tape," or the object of his mission will be defeated.

He must be a man of originality and strong individuality, perfectly free and untrammelled. A good traveller will always command this freedom of action, for who can be so competent a judge of the requirements of the ground he covers as himself? A weak man, who has to be dictated to from headquarters, lacks the true spirit of an ambassador, and will prove of no service either to himself or to his employer. In short, a commercial traveller will be respected just in proportion to the respect which he has for himself, and his position will be higher or lower just to the extent that this respect is manifested.

A thorough man will not require even the "crack of the whip," for being, in a measure, a "law unto himself," he does not need the assistance of further instructions; indeed, it is often more necessary to warn such a man against doing too much, than to press him to do more. On the other hand, if the commercial traveller cannot do business without constant urging he is either unfit for his position, or those superintending at home, having very likely themselves had no experience on the road, or of the field, are equally unfit for their position. A good man is often made totally unfit for his day's work, every particle of interest or "go" taken out of him by some stupid remarks in a letter to him by an ill-informed employer at home. Unless principals can write helpful letters to their representatives abroad, they had better not write at all, or recall the man who needs such attentions. It is a question of all confidence or no confidence at all. If the traveller is "worth his salt" he will not submit to nagging; if he is not, no amount of writing or forcing will ever make him earn even his expenses.

The mental strain under which the traveller's work must be done, should always be borne in mind by his employer. The feeling of responsibility is more wearing to him than to any one concerned. He knows that much is expected of him, and if he meets with poor success the conscientious traveller always suffers from depression. On his trip the thought is always present that he must perform an adequate day's work, despite the delays occasioned by inconsiderate customers who fail to keep engagements promptly or put off business until the eleventh hour or by many other circumstances over which he has absolutely no control.

Let us take as an illustration a day's work of a traveller on a western trip: He has travelled from New York to Cleveland, where we find him packing his trunks so as to be ready to take the night train for Cincinnati, which he expects to reach early the next morning. Before retiring to his bunk in the railway train he writes out some late orders and a report to his firm. In Cleveland he must lay out his samples and call on three dealers, which he hopes to accomplish in a day by hard work, so that he may continue his journey to Columbus. He reaches Cleveland in time, takes the 'bus to the hotel, secures a sample room, opens his trunks and displays his books and other lines as effectively as possible. After breakfast he is ready for business. He calls on Mr. A, to whom he is well known and he consequently needs no introduction. Mr. A agrees to call at the hotel early, say at ten o'clock, because he has another engagement later in the day. The traveller next calls on Mr. B, a new man, to whom he must introduce himself and make known his business. Mr. B after some vacillation also hits upon ten o'clock. As it is inadvisable to deal with these two rivals at the same time the traveller with much tact and after some masterful fencing induces Mr. B to defer his call until two o'clock in the afternoon. His next visit is to Mr. C, who regrets that he has no time that day, but may drop in the next morning. After some diplomatic handling Mr. C is persuaded to call that afternoon not later than four o'clock. Mr. A keeps his appointment promptly; Mr. B is an hour late, and, in general, proves himself an obstinate and procrastinating customer; while Mr. C rushes in at almost the last hour. We need not point out that no matter how skilful a traveller may be he will be lucky if under such circumstances he is able to cover this part of the field with satisfaction to himself and his employers, re-pack his trunks, write out his orders, and make connections with the next stand according to his schedule. If he failed in this particular instance—by no means an exceptional one—uncomplimentary criticism from home certainly would not mend the matter or help the traveller out of a similar fix another time.

The traveller must be permitted to judge of the course to take in an emergency. If necessary, it is better to miss a train than to intrude upon a dealer who is out of humor, or who is busy with customers. The man who is always in a hurry to finish up his work in a town and to get out of it as soon as possible will in a short time exhaust the patience of even his most complacent customers. It seldom pays to force things. The traveller cannot hope to finish his business transaction with a customer every time at the first call or interview. A great deal may often depend upon leaving a certain customer at the right time and taking him up again on another occasion. Very likely the customer may have a grievance against the house that it may take hours of the traveller's time to straighten out. It is perhaps a matter over which he may have no control, or belong to a department of which he knows nothing; nevertheless, inasmuch as he is the only representative of the house whom the customer can get at personally, the traveller must bear the brunt of the saved-up wrath, and employ all the diplomacy at his command to straighten out the difficulties and to restore peace of mind to his customer, even if for the moment all his operations come to a standstill. Next to the customer with a grievance the cranky customer gives the traveller much trouble, and often causes him to lose time. This kind of man does not mean to cause the traveller any annoyance, but he succeeds nevertheless in blocking his progress. Rude and ungentlemanly customers are difficult to handle; yet, as the majority of these are cowards, the superior traveller will have no trouble in keeping them in their places; indeed, it not unfrequently happens that they are made to be ashamed of their conduct, and, while they may not reform in general, they will cease troubling the particular man whose "game is humanity."

PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATIONS.*

BY D. C. HEATH.

THE idea of trade combinations for protection and mutual advantage is probably almost as old as commerce itself.

In Europe, during the Middle Ages, both merchants and craftsmen formed themselves into associations for the promotion of their common interests, and these guilds are the earliest trade associations known to history, though some writers tell us that similar organizations existed among the Greeks and Romans.

The publishers, or booksellers, as they were called in ancient times,† have always been the most learned of all tradesmen. It was therefore natural that they should be the first to perceive the advantages of combination among themselves for the encouragement and protection of their trade.

Even before the invention of printing, as early as 1275, the members of the bookselling fraternity of Paris bound themselves together in a corporation. They had to take oath of allegiance to the king, and also to their municipal government, and they carried on their business under laws, framed by themselves, regulating discounts, commissions, the manner in which they should exhibit their wares for sale, etc. The stationers of London formed themselves into a guild in 1403, and the original purpose of entering books at Stationers' Hall was that each member of the guild or brotherhood might know what his competitors were doing. Of course, with the invention of printing, the operations of the Stationers' Company became very largely extended; but there is little on record to show exactly what the questions were with which they had to deal.

Booksellers' guilds were found in other parts of Europe, also, in those early days. For example, records exist of agreements between booksellers, copyists, and allied trades in Belgium, as early as 1450. And in some form or other trade associations among publishers and the allied businesses have existed ever since, varying with the changing needs and conditions, and according to the growth and increasing complexity of the trade.

ENGLISH BOOK TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

One after another, these trade organizations went out of existence as new problems arose from time to time which called for fresh combinations to meet a new order of things. Thus the guilds of the tradesmen disappeared when the needs for them ceased to exist, though there yet remain some brilliant vestiges of them, as one knows who has enjoyed the hospitality of any of the great companies in London.

During the last century, when copyright matters were as yet in a somewhat inchoate condition in England, the London booksellers met at the Chapter Coffee House, under the shadow of St. Paul's Cathedral, to resist an invasion of their literary preserves by the publication at Edinburgh of an edition of "The British Poets from Chaucer to Churchill."

In the year 1777 as many as forty booksellers came together at one of these Chapter Coffee House meetings, and at this same Chapter Coffee House members of the "Conger" used to meet. The "Conger" was an association of five booksellers, first formed in 1719, and continued throughout the century. What was meant by the word "Conger"—whether derived from congeries, or, as one wittily suggested, from conger eel (because it swallows up the smaller fry)—has never been quite clear. About the middle of that period the publishers had to oppose also an "association for the encouragement of learning," which was formed under the auspices of some of the leaders of the nobility to carry on the work of publishing. But as the idea came from the brain of a schemer, the publishers succeeded in bringing the association to naught, (except a debt of two thousand pounds.)

In the last century existed also the share-book publishing combinations. These are scarcely heard of now, although I believe that there yet lingers in the "Row" a few share-books, of which 8/100ths belong to one publisher, 27/100ths to another, etc.

The following is an example of one of these accounts taken from "a Bookseller of the last Century," by Charles Welsh.

The practice of diminishing the individual risk by dividing the cost of publishing into shares, each partner being liable for his portion of the cost, and taking a proportionate number of copies, lasted until early in the present century. The books that were thus issued under a collective imprint used to be known as "Share-Books," or "Chapter Books," from their having originated at these Chapter Coffee House meetings.

The following is a facsimile of the blank invitation to one of these meetings:

S I R,

"In those days," says Charles Knight, in his "Shadows of the Old Booksellers," "the publishers clave together. The first Longmans, Cadell, Dodsley, and others formed themselves into a club, which first met weekly at the Devil's Tavern, in Temple Bar, (which has long since gone the way of Temple Bar itself,) and afterwards they met monthly at The Shakespeare, where many a new book was planned." It was at one such meeting that the plan of publishing Johnson's "Lives of the Poets" was decided upon, and many other less important matters were arranged.

In the nineteenth century the great problem of discounts is the one which the publishers of Europe have tried over and over again to solve by means of trade associations. But, so far, all attempts to solve it have failed. In England the greatest stand against unequal discounts came to an end in 1852, when the trade association, of which Mr. Sampson Low was secretary, collapsed. The same fate has attended all the less resolute and less energetic efforts which have since been made. The best laid plans have failed. Every association to keep up prices has fallen to pieces. Publishers have over and over again united themselves by solemn covenants, but there has always been one black sheep—generally a powerful and ancient ram—who has broken through the fence and got away, and of course the rest have followed, bleating, after.*

A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF INCUNABULA.

JACQUES ROSENTHAL, the Munich bookseller, to whom the book world is indebted for many valuable catalogues, has just issued another, which, though intended chiefly as a sales list, will nevertheless take rank as a contribution to bibliographic literature. It is entitled "Incunabula Typographica: catalogue d'une collection d'incunables décrits et offerts aux amateurs a l'occasion du cinquième centenaire de Guttenberg." In defending the use of the French language for descriptions and explanations, Mr. Rosenthal says: "My object is to adopt a language known to scholars throughout the world, so that I may be understood by customers scattered through the whole earth. The idea is not new. Many authors have written in a language not their own for the same purpose: Bartsch (one hundred years ago); Passavant (fifty years ago); and, in our own day, M. Schreiber (in his Manual for Collectors of Engravings.) All these left their native German and wrote in French to reach the world of scholars. Other scholars like Kristeller and Haebler, for the same reason chose the English language. Should they be accused of Anglomania or Gallomania? I think their object was to be useful to the world. And that is my idea although I do not pretend to rank my catalogue with the work of such men as these."

* Mr. Heath's address, it must be remembered, was prepared before the present movement to correct the discount abuse was begun by the associated publishers and booksellers of Great Britain.—ED. P. W.

As to his notes and descriptions Mr. Rosenthal says: "I have followed the method of Hain, always classic on this subject and have also constantly consulted the supplements to his 'Repertorium' published by Copinger. The splendid catalogue that M. Proctor has made of the Incunabula of the British Museum has also been consulted with great profit. To it I am indebted for the titles of the impressions bearing neither name of publisher or place of publication. I have also constantly used the Catalogue of Incunabula of the public libraries of France published by Mlle. Pellechet.

"I here bear witness to my indebtedness to these two indispensable works. They leave but two things to be desired: that the one should offer more details and that the other might appear more quickly. I claim to have studied all the literature dealing with printing in the 15th century. I have invariably given my authorities. As such references give but an inadequate idea of the material, I have listed it in full at the end of the volume, so that my assertions and quotations may be verified."

Besides this list of authorities Mr. Rosenthal has added other lists that he deems necessary for a catalogue of this kind. He has followed the general methods of abbreviation adopted by those dealing with this subject.

The catalogue proper describes 1500 titles, apparently given in full, and illustrated with eighty facsimiles of titles and text. Appended are the following supplementary lists:

- (1) Subject index exclusive of Theology and Law, as the incunabula are chiefly devoted to these subjects.
- (2) List of publications listed according to Hain. The first number indicates the order followed by Hain; the second that of the present catalogue.
- (3) List of publications described by Hain.
- (4) List of publications described by M. W. A. Copinger in the second part of his supplement to Hain.
- (5) Publications published in the Lowlands. Numbered according to the Annals of Campbell.
- (6) List of the places of publication.
- (7) Publications of which neither the place of publication nor the printer is known.
- (8) List of the places where the incunabula were printed, chronologically arranged.
- (9) List of publications arranged according to the names of the printers.
- (10) List of German printers working in foreign countries whose place of birth is not known.
- (12) List of French printers working in foreign countries.
- (13) List of Slavic printers working in foreign countries. (232 p. 8°, pap.)

THE WALL PAPER TRUST TO BE DISSOLVED.

At the annual meeting of the directors of the National Wall Paper Company, to be held on July 17 in the general offices of the company, 127 Crosby Street, New York, the advisability of a dissolution of the company will be discussed. Henry Burn, President of the company, made this statement on the 2d inst.:

"From time to time rumors of an impending dissolution of the National Wall Paper Company have appeared in the press. Although the subject may have been informally discussed among the various stockholders, there was no basis for an announcement that such dissolution would take place. During the past few weeks, however, the subject has received serious consideration on the part of the directors and of the large stockholders, and at the annual meeting, which is to be held on the 17th inst., the matter will be fully considered and definite action will probably be taken. The reasons which have been urged in support of favorable action on such a proposition are in brief:

"That although the company has now been in existence for eight years and has done a large business, its profits have not been commensurate with the expectations of the stockholders, due to the fact that its existence has to such an extent stimulated competition that the number of plants engaged in the manufacture of wall paper has in that period practically doubled.

"It has also been demonstrated that the manufacture of wall paper involves elements of so peculiar a nature that it cannot be as successfully conducted through the medium of a combination as it can through independent isolated plants. Individual taste and the personality of the manufacturer play an important part, which in a combination consisting of numerous plants is apt to be overlooked.

"For these and other reasons the entire Board of Directors, who themselves constitute a majority of the stockholders, and who are acting from a sincere conviction that they are thereby promoting the interests of all concerned, favor a dissolution of the corporation. The indebtedness of the company is nominal and will be paid in full before any action looking toward dissolution is taken. A plan is being matured which will in all probability result in the acquisition of the various plants by those who were identified with them prior to their sale to the National Wall Paper Company. The essential features of the plan will be that the present Board of Directors will have sole charge of closing the affairs of the company, thereby avoiding the expense and shrinkage in values ordinarily incident to the dissolution of an important industrial undertaking."

OBITUARY NOTES.

ARMAND COLIN, the eminent Paris publisher, died on June 19 after a short illness. M. Colin was born at Tonnerre, France, in 1842. He was the son of a publisher, and from his earliest youth was drawn to books, betraying a special leaning towards the classics. When he founded the house which he made so successful he made the publishing of classics its specialty. This was in 1870, when he was twenty-eight years old. He and his partner, M. Le Corbeiller, recognized the great profit there must of necessity be in providing the books needed for the rapidly-developing system of primary education, the necessity for which had just been recognized by the French government. M. Colin gathered about him the professors of the universities and with them planned a graded system of text-books which has been among the great successes of French publishing. He did not confine himself to this line, however, but branched out into a long line of general publications. M. Colin was a man of most varied interests and a citizen willing to devote much time to the welfare of his town and country. He held many public offices and was specially active in arrangements for the Paris Exhibition, when sickness put a stop to all his work some weeks ago.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS, Government Printing Office, Union Building, Washington, D. C., has just issued the third edition of the "Price List of U. S. Public Documents for Sale by the Superintendent of Documents." (142 p. 8°.)

ANDREW DEAKIN, of Birmingham, Eng., has just published the first part of "Outlines of Musical Bibliography," upon which he has been engaged for some years. This work, to be completed in six parts, attempts to bring together a list of all music and musical works printed or otherwise produced in the British Isles before 1800, an undertaking that has required long and patient research. The first part commences with early manuscript music and musical works.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

W. L. COURTNEY is writing a biography of Thomas Hardy for the English Writers of To-Day Series.

ROBERT BARR will finish a novel left incomplete by Stephen Crane. Mr. Barr's own book, "The Strong Arm," a collection of stories, is to appear in August.

HEZEKIAH BUTTERWORTH is writing a book for young people which will be based on the curiously picturesque features of the early life of Thomas Jefferson. It will be entitled "In the Days of Jefferson," and will be published early in the fall by D. Appleton & Co. in the Creators of Liberty Series which already includes stories of Penn, Washington, Lincoln, and others also written by Mr. Butterworth.

GEORGE MOORE has finished the first draft of his novel "Sister Teresa," which is not a sequel, in the ordinary use of the word, to "Evelyn Innes," i.e., a story hung on to a previously published work. "Sister Teresa" was part and parcel of Mr. Moore's original idea, and the publication of "Evelyn Innes" was decided on because the book had reached 500 pages, and Mr. Moore's publisher felt that novels of 1000 pages in length would demand some new form of printing not easy to devise. "Sister Teresa," according to the London Athenaeum, will be as long, or nearly as long, and when the two books which merely an accident of publication has divided are brought together, as Mr. Moore hopes they will ultimately be, the story of "Evelyn Innes" will be one of the longest novels written about one character, for the above narrative will contain about 300,000 words. As soon as "Sister Teresa" is finished Mr. Moore will begin to rewrite "Evelyn Innes." This rewriting will amount to a remoulding, but this must not be understood to mean that new incidents will be added or any old ones altered.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

AN English edition of Munsey's Magazine, with special features, will in future be published by Horace Marshall & Son, London, Frank Munsey having determined to push his periodical in England.

The World's Work is the title of a new magazine to be published in the fall by Doubleday, Page & Co. Walter H. Page, who was so successful in editing The Forum and later The Atlantic Monthly, will be the editor. The magazine will be on new and entirely original lines.

THE CENTURY CO. announces the discovery of a new romantic novelist in a young New Yorker, Miss Bertha Runkle, whose maiden effort is to be The Century's leading piece of fiction for the next eight months, beginning in the August number. It is described as a dramatic romance of love and adventure, and is entitled "The Helmet of Navarre." The scene is Paris during the siege by Henry of Navarre, and the action occupies but four days of the week preceding the Sunday when Henry entered the city to give his adhesion to the Catholic Church and accept its ecclesiastical rites—the occasion of his saying that Paris was worth a mass. Among the characters of the story are the king himself, the Duke of Mayenne, who commanded the city during the investment, and a hero and heroine of much attractiveness. Miss Runkle is the daughter of Mrs. L. G. Runkle, well known by her editorial connection with the New York Tribune, and as one of the working editors of the "Library of the World's Best Literature," and similar enterprises.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just ready Dr. F. W. Colegrove's work on "Memory," with an introduction by Dr. G. Stanley Hall.

HERBERT S. STONE & Co., of Chicago, announce that Harold Frederic's popular novel, "The Damnation of Theron Ware," is to be dramatized.

MRS. ROSE HARRINGTON, 345 Bedford Avenue, Mount Vernon, N. Y., will shortly publish a volume to be entitled "Little Terrestrial Physics."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just ready an edition de luxe of the Rubaiyat, edited by Dr. William Augustus Brown. The edition is limited to 150 copies.

WALTER S. LEWIS, formerly with the Helman-Taylor Co., Cleveland, O., has taken charge of the book department of Strawbridge & Clothier, of Philadelphia.

THE interesting preface to the new edition of Stephen Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage," just published by D. Appleton & Co., is the work of Ripley Hitchcock, the literary adviser of the firm.

A CERTAIN Robert Gordon has been pretending to establish agencies in Canada for Harper & Brothers. The firm has requested the Toronto police to look after him, as he has no authority from them.

WM. J. CAMPBELL, 1218 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, has just published a fine engraving of Chief Justice John Gibson. The whole number of signed proofs were disposed of before the day of publication.

THE State of Washington has decided to disregard the experience of other states, and will publish all the text-books used in its public schools. The Westland Publishing Company of Seattle has made a contract to print the bulk of the work, and, after this year, to print 74 per cent. of it.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have just ready a volume on "Burma," by Max and Bertha Ferras, which contains reproductions of about 450 photographs, illustrating the characteristic situations in the life of the leading race, the aboriginal or Hill races, the scenery, the animals, and the vegetation.

THE first edition of James Lane Allen's new novel "The Reign of Law" was upwards of 40,000 and was sold before the day of publication. It is likely to be of interest to collectors of first editions of Mr. Allen's works, as the drawings by Harry Fenn and J. E. Earl, which are reproduced in photogravure, will hereafter be made by a half-tone process. A second edition of ten thousand copies is just ready.

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK Co. has secured for immediate publication a newly-discovered novel by the late Grant Allen. They report that Dr. Andrew Balfour's historical novel, "Vengeance is Mine," is meeting with a good sale; that Guy Boothby's tale of Nihilism, "The Red Rat's Daughter," has already reached a third edition; and that the first edition of J. Maclaren Cobban's "An African Treasure," was sold in advance of publication.

THE B. F. JOHNSON PUBLISHING Co., Richmond, Va., have published three charts to assist the instructor in teaching fractions, prepared by Professor M. C. S. Noble, of the University of North Carolina. The charts are clearly printed, colors being employed in some cases to bring out with greater distinctness the fractional differences. The questions and answers given are merely suggestive and need not be followed verbatim by those using the charts.

APROPOS of the report of a first folio Shakespeare that had been found and lost at Ponden House, in Yorkshire, England, to which reference was made in our issue for June 2, Edwin Bormann, of Leipzig, writes to the Borsenblatt, that he is the present owner of the book, which he obtained from an English bookseller. The copy, however, is not an original, but a facsimile made in 1866, "excellently preserved, and" as Mr. Bormann sarcastically remarks, "uncut."

THE sixty-third and last volume of the "Dictionary of National Biography" has just been published. To this volume is prefixed "a statistical account" of the "Dictionary," which supplies a number of facts and figures connected with the history of the undertaking, and analyzes summarily the work done by the chief regular contributors. A table gives "totals of memoirs in each letter of the alphabet, arranged century by century," as well as a list of the names of the thirty-four contributors who have written the largest number of pages, with the amount of their contributions.

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS has issued a fourth edition, revised, of its Bulletin No. 1, devoted to "The copyright law of the United States," brought up to July, 1900. This gives the full text of the law, with informing annotations, a list of the acts relating to copyright passed from 1790 to 1897 inclusive, and a most useful index to the law, including references to the notes. Part 3 of Bulletin No. 4 has also appeared, containing "Rules and Forms relating to Copyright Registration in Canada." Parts 1 and 2 of this number, now in press, are devoted respectively to "International Copyright Union," and "Copyright Registration in England." The other Bulletins in this useful series are No. 2, of which a third revised edition is in press, giving "Directions for the registration of copyrights," and No. 3, a compilation of all U. S. copyright enactments from 1783 to 1900.

LITERARY and artistic London were present on June 29 at a luncheon in the Mansion House, London, given by Lord Mayor Newton, to celebrate the completion of the "Dictionary of National Biography." More than two hundred persons were present, including United States Ambassador Choate, Leslie Stephen, the first editor of the work; Sidney Lee, the present editor; the Bishop of London, the Right Rev. Mandell Creighton, D.D.; John Morley, Sir Charles Dilke, W. E. H. Lecky, Viscount Peel, Sir Clements Markham, President of the Royal Geographical Society; R. W. Gilder, Andrew Lang, Edmund Gosse, and Austin Dobson. Speeches were delivered by Mr. Morley, the Lord Mayor, the Bishop of London, Mr. Choate, and others. They all paid tributes to the magnitude of the benefit conferred by the work just completed, and made complimentary references to America.

H. M. CALDWELL COMPANY, Boston, will publish on July 15, a translation of Eugene Sue's "The Knight of Malta," illustrated with original etchings. Early in August they expect to publish a "twentieth century" Mother Goose, entitled "Mother Wild Goose and Her Wild Beast Show," parodies on the familiar rhymes of the well-known juvenile, by L. J. Bridgman, with illustrations, in color, by the author, who is as well-known as an illustrator as he is as a successful writer of books for young people. The publishers announce that the advance orders for Mr. Bridgman's book already run well beyond 5000 copies. They will publish in September under the general title of The Remarque Classics, a collection of literary masterpieces, printed on a superior deckle-edged paper, and illustrated with original etchings by Marcel. For their Green Room Series they are preparing editions of "Vanity Fair," "A Tale of Two Cities," "Romeo and Juliet," and "The Three Musketeers," the illustrations for which will be reproductions of photographs from the dramatic representations of the plays made from the books. An etching of the leading character in each play, suitable for framing, will accompany each volume. They have also in preparation new limited editions of "The Persian Tales," "Tartarin Tales," and the "Memoirs of the Count Grammont."

BUSINESS NOTES.

TUCSON, ARK.—Nott Guild has bought an interest in Kimball's book store on East Congress Street.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

—NEW YORK TIMES' SAT. REVIEW.

By JAMES LANE ALLEN

THE REIGN OF LAW

PUBLISHED
WEEK
Cloth, $1.50

"It is primarily the work of an artist to whom the dramatic interest is supreme, but the artist is also a close, courageous, and reverent thinker. . . . In this latest work he has told the story of two human souls . . . with that exquisite beauty which reminds the reader of Hawthorne."—HAMILTON W. MABIE in the Outlook.

Illustrated by
and
J. C. EARL

"THE REIGN OF LAW

"Over and above the story one is impressed with the purity, the lofty dignity, the sweetness of its tone."—Indianapolis News.

has its romance—a controlling factor in the story—but it is preëminently the study of a soul . . . religion is here the dominant note."—New York Times' Sat. Review.

"Mr. ALLEN has never drawn stronger characters and never drawn them more deftly than in David the Bible Student."—Churchman.

"That it will take its place as one of the notable books of the year practically goes without saying, and wherever the best and noblest of English speech is appreciated this book will find a hearing."—Louisville Times.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S POPULAR LIBRARY

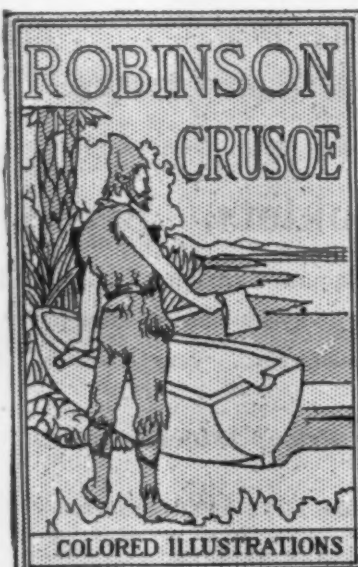

Old and Famous Books Illustrated in Colors.

Twelve Volumes. Large 12mo. Cloth. Price, $1.00 Each.

The covers are each stamped in three colors from original designs. Profusely illustrated with colored plates and wood-cuts from designs by Sir John Gilbert, Harrison Weir, Walter Crane, John Tenniel, and other celebrated artists.

Each of these books has ten full-page plates, done in eight colors. The first contains, besides Æsop's Fables, English versions of the one hundred Fables in Rhyme from the Animal-Picture-Fable-Book that has long been popular in every German home. Grimm's Fairy Tales is a complete edition, with wood-cuts by Wehnert. The pictures in Gulliver are the quaintest ever drawn.

Mother Goose is a complete edition. It contains besides the ten colored plates more than four hundred wood-cuts. The Robinson Crusoe contains 566 pages, including a memoir of the author, Daniel DeFoe.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S POPULAR LIBRARY.

OLD AND FAMOUS BOOKS, ILLUSTRATED IN COLORS.

The Most Attractive One-Dollar Editions Ever Made.

Swiss Family Robinson vies with Robinson Crusoe as a fascinating book of adventure. Andersen's Tales will be read as long as children have imaginations to wander into Fairy Land. The stories of The Thousand Nights and a Night lose none of their power to fascinate successive generations. These full editions, with their wealth of illustrations of the books that long ago found a permanent place in our literature will satisfy the demands of parents as well as children.

Bunyan's beautiful and powerful Allegory has never appeared in a prettier popular edition, nor has the pretty versions of Shakespeare's tragedies and comedies. Most young people have a liking for stories of animals, and Professor Wood must have had them in mind when he wrote his Natural History.

These Books are in workmanship all that can be desired, well printed on good paper, and in substantial and Remarkably Attractive Bindings. A description of these books and of other new editions of Popular Juveniles will be sent on application.

State Publications

A Provisional List of the Official Publications of the Several States of the United States from their Organization

COMPILED UNDER THE EDITORIAL DIRECTION OF

R. R. BOWKER.

PART I: NEW ENGLAND STATES—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut.

The first part of the bibliography of State Publications is ready. It includes preface giving a sketch of State Bibliography, and 99 pages covering the issues of the New England States from their organization, with blank space for extensions. But 500 copies have been printed, and there are no plates.

The complete work, exceeding 300 pages, will be furnished at $5, and the first part will be sent, only to those subscribing for the whole, on the receipt of subscription and $2 remittance.

The attention of State libraries, of the central public libraries, and of foreign libraries is especially called to this publication, but it is also important to that larger number of libraries which cannot undertake to collect the State publications even of their own State, and yet should be able to inform students and inquirers as to what is to be found in the publications of their own State and of other States. What New York and Massachusetts are doing in forestry, for instance, is of importance in all States and to foreign students of the subject.

Publications of Societies

A Provisional List of the Publications of American Scientific, Literary, and Other Societies from their Organization

COMPILED UNDER THE EDITORIAL DIRECTION OF

R. R. BOWKER.

This volume, of about 200 pages, schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. It will be found of use in all libraries—in large libraries as a check-list, in small libraries as a bibliographical key to a most important field of special literature.

Price, $2.50 paper; $3 cloth.

SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE RECEIVED BY

THE OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY,

298 BROADWAY, (P. O. BOX 943,) NEW YORK

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852.) THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEYFOLDT, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information which nowhere else is obtainable by so convenient a method, if obtainable at all.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volume covering the period 1876-84 is also out of print.
